

AT LAST – A REAL OPPORTUNITY FOR FAIR PUBLIC SCHOOL FUNDING

FINALLY THERE'S SOME LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL.

After 30 years in the darkness, Australia's unfair school funding system is finally up for review.

In a prosperous country like Australia all children should have access to a quality public school – with modern, well-resourced classrooms, smaller classes and time for teachers to help every student achieve.

But with the current funding system, federal governments aren't spending enough on public schools. Only one-third of their budgets go to the public schools that enrol two-thirds of the nation's students. Too many of our children are missing out.

This unfair funding system is up for review. What an opportunity to pressure our state and federal politicians to get it right and make it happen.

Get on board and tell them what you think at fairfunding.org.au

Your voice is needed. Every message counts. Tell your local politicians you believe in a fair go for children in public schools – go to fairfunding.org.au

